Project Name: Re-entry Housing Navigation Pilot

Project Identification Number	504978
Project Expenditure Category	2-Negative Economic Impacts
Project Expenditure Subcategory	2.18-Housing Support: Other Housing Assistance
Status To Completion	Completed less than 50%
Adopted Budget	$4,898,000.00
Total Cumulative Obligations	$4,898,000.00
Total Cumulative Expenditures	$1,438,436.04
Current Period Obligations	$0.00
Current Period Expenditures	$935,394.50
Project Description	As a response to the COVID-19 pandemic the SPRING Forward Pilot Program provides housing navigation services to facilitate access to housing and housing supportive services to stabilize returning residents and mitigate the risk of recidivism for residents released from CCJ and IDOC to the City of Chicago. The program will serve returning residents who are at the highest risk of homelessness and recidivism. The overarching goal of the SPRING Forward Housing Pilot is to build the infrastructure for re-entry housing that is designed to connect individuals released from CCJ and IDOC to permanent housing and housing supportive services. Qualified housing and social service providers work to identify a supply of housing that meets applicable housing health and safety codes and that can serve individuals exiting the jail and prison system. The pilot provides a unit-based subsidy supported by an agreement between the Respondent and an approved property owner "Landlord" willing to make the unit available to eligible tenants. The SPRING Forward Housing Navigation Pilot Program supports the following: security deposit payments, 12-month rental subsidy payments, Minimum Habitability Standards inspection (MHS), a furniture bank allowance, housing navigator wages, and program supplies.

Project Description	Enhanced Data Collection and Analysis allows the City of Chicago to understand the distribution of pollutants and relative vulnerability of different Chicago neighborhoods, thus creating the evidence needed to better target communities for permitting and inspections. Specifically, this project expands of the local air monitoring network with additional community-based sensors to better capture local air quality conditions not being monitored in real-time by federal monitors. In addition, the project utilizes advanced software to better understand the distribution of pollutants at a hyper-local level. Part of the project is to also conduct a cumulative impact assessment (CIA) to assess the cumulative impacts of pollution in each neighborhood, including health and social indicators that affect vulnerability, so zoning and permitting decisions can be made with full awareness of how residents are being affected by pollution.

	Spurred by increased youth arrests for low level offenses during the COVID-19 pandemic, the Youth Justice Diversion Program (YIP) funds agencies to engage with youth 10-17 years old that have had contact with law enforcement. YIP offers youth citywide up to 90 days of coordinated community services based on risk and need factors. This program requires an individualized approach

Project Description	based on a needs assessment and case planning with youth and their families. The program targets youth 10-17 who, once referred by the Chicago Police Department (CPD), are assessed for risk, needs, and strengths. The program then matches supervision and intervention strategies with the youth's levels of risk and motivation. With the support of DFSS, awarded agencies facilitate services through comprehensive, hyper-local community networks, and encourage CPD citywide to refer youth to services in lieu of continued action through the legal system. In addition, awarded agencies provide restorative justice opportunities to increase accountability for youth and increase public safety. The long-term goal is to limit youth interaction with law enforcement, increase youth access to services, increase youth sense of accountability and safety, and decrease their likelihood of continuing criminal activity. Project outcomes are measured through youth surveys.

Project Description	The Service Coordination and Navigation (SCaN) program provides intensive community-based case management services to youth 14-24 years old who are at the highest risk of violence in 31 target communities. The SCaN program model supports youth at the highest risk of exposure to violence, violent victimization, and active involvement in violence; and that live in the city's community areas with the highest level of violent crimes. The SCaN model aims to reduce youth involvement in violence and improve youth wellbeing by providing youth with services, stability, and a network of community support to guide youth towards a successful transition to adulthood. Program outcome goals include increasing youth self-efficacy; ensuring youth have a network of supportive, caring adults; and supporting youth in meeting their needs and goals to build stability in their lives (i.e., re-engaging and maintaining engagement in school or work, obtaining safe and stable housing, reducing justice involvement, and reducing incidences of violent victimization). Ultimately, we hope that success across these outcome goals will contribute to an overall reduction in youth violence involvement and violence at the community-level.

Brief description of structure and objectives of assistance program(s), including public health or negative economic impact experienced	SCaN is a community-based model that connects youth ages 14-24 at the highest risk of violence involvement to services in support of goals that increase their stability, self-efficacy, and assist in their transition to adulthood. Participants are connected to a Navigator who serves as an advocate and provides intensive individualized service coordination. Youth are subsequently connected to services that support their goals such as employment, education, mental/behavioral health, etc.
Brief description of recipient's approach to ensuring that response is reasonable and proportional to a public health or negative economic impact of Covid-19	The program addresses an increase in violence during COVID-19, including shootings and homicides, which plays an outside role in harming youth in low-income neighborhoods via proximity and direct impact. SCaN is a community-based model that connects youth ages 14-24 at the highest risk of violence involvement to services that increase their stability, self-efficacy, and assist in their transition to adulthood.

Project Description	This intervention provides services to meet the needs of young people with violence involvement, both victims and perpetrators, who are underserved by existing City programs. The intervention includes case management and services navigation to connect youth with trauma-informed mental health services, employment support, and other wraparound services. One component of this is a mentoring program in which delegate agencies implement in-school and out-of-school mentoring programs citywide for youth ages 12-24 who are at risk of not transitioning successfully into adulthood. A second component is a career transition program that provides training, work readiness skills, and access to paid employment opportunities for Chicagoans. This program supports participants in growing their employment skills and helps them identify permanent career paths, educational opportunities, and apprenticeship programs. By the end of the program, participants should have identified a career pathway, which can include military or post-secondary education/trade. The primary program outcome is the percentage of participants who demonstrate work readiness skills. Data are collected from delegate agency reports and youth surveys.

Project Description	The Gender-Based Violence Victim Services to Young People program aims to deliver age-appropriate, culturally sensitive services to youth affected by gender-based violence (GBV) and/or human trafficking (HT) in Chicago. Through a holistic approach encompassing ongoing comprehensive case management, clinical services, and counseling, this initiative seeks to address the unique needs of young individuals impacted by these forms of violence. The project's primary objective is to provide trauma-informed care and support to youth affected by GBV and/or HT, with the ultimate goal of promoting healing, resilience, and empowerment. The desired outcome is to improve the well-being and long-term prospects of participants by equipping them with the necessary resources and coping strategies to navigate their experiences and build positive futures. Progress towards this goal is measured through various indicators, including participation rates in case management and counseling services, as well as changes in participants' mental health and coping skills over time. Ongoing assessments and feedback mechanisms are utilized to ensure the effectiveness and relevance of the services provided. Eligibility for the program is based on youths' experiences of GBV and/or HT, ensuring that those most impacted by these forms of violence receive the support they need to recover and thrive. Additionally, the program is designed to be culturally appropriate, recognizing the importance of respecting and honoring participants' diverse backgrounds and identities in the healing process.

Project Description	The Artist Relief and Works Fund's purpose is to support the arts and culture sector's recovery from the COVID-19 pandemic via targeted financial relief for individual artists, creative workers, and cultural organizations with a focus on those not eligible for other federal relief programs. Funds will be administered through a combination of grants, technical assistance support, and creative workforce development programs. Recipients must be artists or arts organizations in order to be eligible for project participation and funding. The program currently includes 3 initiatives: the Chicago Arts Recovery Program, Chicago Arts and Health Pilot, and CityArts Program. The Chicago Arts Recovery Program will focus on large-scale project grants to nonprofit arts organizations and grantee learning cohorts developed alongside each focus area to share results, best practices, and models that can impact the field broadly. The CityArts program will provide general operating grants to organizations that demonstrated income loss due to the pandemic. The Chicago Arts and Health Pilot will strengthen justification for arts and creativity as community wellness strategies; increase career pathways for creative workers concerned with public health building a pipeline to job opportunities; and build greater community trust and investment in neighborhood health care resources by increasing participation and access at public health clinics. Project outcomes will be measured by the numbers of engaged artists, arts organizations and community members participating in arts-based activities connected to the project activities.

Project Description	This program is in response to the negative impact of the pandemic which disproportionately impacted people experiencing homelessness who are both more likely to live in congregate settings where risk of transmission is higher and are more likely to have underlying health conditions that put them at increased risk of severe disease. Due to the pandemic many shelters especially those in congregate settings were forced to operate at partial capacity in 2020 through part of 2022. DFSS will identify an agency to provide and operate a low- barrier shelter that meets the essential elements of a low barrier model as determined by national best practices and successfully operating programs. The agency will provide for basic needs e.g. meals kitchen access showers engage in diversion efforts provide connection to housing options and case management services The proposed project will need to operate 24/7 and commit to policies and procedures that meet a lower barrier threshold for entrance and shelter than typical shelter sites e.g., storage units for possessions facilities for pets.

Project Description	The Chicago Empowerment Fund represents a 63.9 million dollar initiative aimed at alleviating the adverse effects of the COVID-19 pandemic on Chicago residents. This project selected its first cohort of 5,000 individuals in 2022 and a second cohort of 5,000 individuals will be selected in the Fall of 2024. Each participant is selected through an inclusive application process and citywide lottery and receives $500 monthly for a duration of twelve months. The project's primary objective is to provide direct financial assistance to those in need, fostering resilience and stability within the community for those facing hardships exacerbated by the pandemic. The impact of the program are measured through various metrics, including improvements in financial stability, reduction in household debt, and increased access to essential resources such as food, housing, and healthcare. The project's eligibility criteria for both cohorts include City of Chicago residency, 18 years of age or older, experienced economic hardship related to COVID-19, and household income level at or below 250 of the Federal Poverty Level. Additional eligibility criteria for the second round is currently under development by the Advisory Council.

Project Description	The Central City Recovery Program, led by the City of Chicago's Department of Business Affairs and Consumer Protection (BACP), allocated funding to local community organizations, including chambers of commerce, Special Service Areas, and nonprofit organizations (501c6 and 501c3), as part of its effort to revitalize commercial corridors in Chicago's Central City area post-COVID-19. Through this initiative, organizations will developed and executed diverse programming, commercial corridor activations, and attractions. These activities aimed to engage both residents and tourists, fostering economic recovery and addressing the challenges faced by small storefront businesses due to the pandemic. The desired outcome of the program was the rejuvenation of the Central City area's commercial landscape, promoting local businesses and attracting visitors. Progress was measured by metrics such as increased foot traffic, business revenue growth, and community participation in programming.

Brief description of structure and objectives of assistance program(s), including public health or negative economic impact experienced	The Central City Recovery Program was designed to promote residents and tourists to return to the central city and thus increase foot traffic and revenues for businesses in the area. This program addressed COVID-19 harms through initiatives such as street festivals with vendors selling goods/food, interactive light shows, dance performances, etc.
Brief description of recipient's approach to ensuring that response is reasonable and proportional to a public health or negative economic impact of Covid-19	This project addressed negative economic harms experienced by retail, dining, and travel and tourism businesses that traditionally thrived on foot traffic to drive business revenue. Through the initiatives of this program, businesses started seeing a return to pre-pandemic revenues and the downtown area began to rebound.

Current Period Expenditures	$423,711.00
Project Description	The Vacant Lot Reduction project puts City-owned vacant land to productive use, primarily focusing on the 15 community areas situated on the South and West sides. These areas have long endured historic disinvestment, resulting in challenges such as poverty, lack of affordable housing, violence, limited access to greenspace, and a proliferation of vacant land, with other 1000 lots being City-owned. The project's primary objective is to facilitate the sale of vacant lots for the redevelopment of vacant land. By doing so, the project contributes to the enhancement of community well-being, wealth creation, safety, and stability in these areas. Progress is measured by tracking the number of vacant lots that are able to be marketed for sale, sold, and redeveloped to be put back into productive use, which will benefit residents in the targeted community areas in the long term.

Brief description of structure and objectives of assistance program(s), including public health or negative economic impact experienced	This project aims to put City-owned vacant land to productive use, including through the sale of land and the resulting development and/or activation. The program intends to give neighbors greater control over vacant land in their neighborhood, return City-owned land to productive use and to the tax rolls, evaluate the environmental conditions of all of the City's vacant land, and create efficiencies in the land sale process and efficiently sell City-owned land at scale.
Brief description of recipient's approach to ensuring that response is reasonable and proportional to a public health or negative economic impact of Covid-19	The pandemic has led to negative health outcomes and exacerbated existing health conditions. Studies have shown that nearby greenspace leads to more positive mental health outcomes. The program is responsive to the harms of vacant and abandoned properties, which have a compounding effect on a range of pandemic-related harms, from increased criminal activity to substance use congregation, and violence.

Brief description of structure and objectives of assistance program(s), including public health or negative economic impact experienced	This program provides comprehensive visits by trained nurses to families with newborns to assess the health of the newborn and birthing person and identify the family's health and social needs. The program then refers families to needed health and social services, such as mental health care, financial assistance, housing assistance, nutrition benefits, parenting education, and other resources. The program addresses the negative impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic on maternal and perinatal health.
Brief description of recipient's approach to ensuring that response is reasonable and proportional to a public health or negative economic impact of Covid-19	Given widespread impact of COVID-19 on pregnant individuals, U.S. Treasury re-categorized home visiting as eligible use for impacted communities, not just disproportionately impacted communities. This program aims to address this public health impact of the pandemic on perinatal and maternal health, and documented increases in risk factors including anxiety, stress, depression, and other mental health concerns through home visits.

Brief description of structure and objectives of assistance program(s), including public health or negative economic impact experienced	This program supports organizations that work with the City to hire and train community members to serve as ambassadors, creating a visible, welcoming presence at neighborhood commercial centers for residents and visitors. This program stations "street ambassadors" along key commercial corridors to provide a welcoming presence and greater sense of safety, with the intention of increasing customer foot traffic for surrounding businesses.
Brief description of recipient's approach to ensuring that response is reasonable and proportional to a public health or negative economic impact of Covid-19	The Street Ambassadors Program prioritizes corridors that experienced significant commercial closures due to the pandemic. These negative economic impacts affected small businesses, including brick-and-mortar retail, bars, and restaurants. This harm is seen across several commercial activity metrics, including decreased foot traffic. The program seeks to restore commercial activity to pre-pandemic levels.

Project Description	The Tourism and Hospitality Recovery initiative focus on driving tourism, particularly business tourism, throughout the city, while providing direct assistance to hospitality, retail, and live events businesses affected by the pandemic. The initiative has three main sub-programs. The first program Industry-Focused Events, comprises in-person events designed to support the rebuilding of sectors identified by the City's Recovery Taskforce. These events also offer direct aid to businesses unable to operate live events due to COVID-19 restrictions. The second program spotlights Chicago-based businesses in vacant spaces across the central city. These showcase programs not only highlight local businesses affected by the pandemic but also aim to attract tourists back to commercial corridors impacted by the pandemic's economic downturn. Additionally, the Citywide Marketing program seeks an organization to conduct marketing campaigns aimed at promoting tourism throughout Chicago, with a particular focus on neighborhoods. These efforts will emphasize tourism to various parts of the city, contributing to its overall economic recovery. The success of these programs will be measured by tracking marketing efforts online and through print materials as well as by tracking engagement at activities and events throughout the city. Brief description of structure and objectives of assistance program(s), including public health or negative economic impact experienced	The program supports public events, which reactivates vacant event spaces and associated hospitality businesses. Creating diverse events that appeal to many different industries will encourage an influx of locals and visitors that will stimulate the still rebounding tourism and hospitality sectors. This program also supports the development and implementation of a comprehensive tourism marketing strategy that positions Chicago as a prime destination for residents and visitors alike.
Brief description of recipient's approach to ensuring that response is reasonable and proportional to a public health or negative economic impact of Covid-19	Travel and tourism industry was hard hit by COVID-19 and is still recovering. This program responds to negative economic impacts, specifically a decrease in tourism and hotel industry economic activity. Program beneficiaries are small Chicago businesses directly impacted by COVID-19, with focus on hospitality and event supporting businesses.

Project Description	The Community Justice Initiative delivers impactful legal education workshops covering crucial topics such as the school-to-prison pipeline, understanding rights when interacting with law enforcement, and employment, school, and housing rights. Additionally, residents have the opportunity to access civil legal representation and receive support for expungement and sealing of juvenile and adult records. This initiative aims to empower residents with knowledge and legal assistance, fostering a more just and informed community. Program outcomes focus on the number of residents receiving legal consultation and having records successfully expunged or sealed, both of which will be reported by the delegate agencies providing those legal services.

Brief description of structure and objectives of assistance program(s), including public health or negative economic impact experienced	Community Justice Initiative (CJI) aims to educate, train, and provide legal services to residents living in qualified census tracts. CJI intends to provide education and training that will teach beneficiaries how to interact with law enforcement in addition to learning their rights when encountered by police. CJI will also provide a connection to civil legal services, expungement, and record sealing.
Brief description of recipient's approach to ensuring that response is reasonable and proportional to a public health or negative economic impact of Covid-19	CJI aids populations facing negative economic impacts due to COVID-19 by providing counseling and legal aid services that are targeted to individuals living in qualified census tracts. Although elevated crime rates are a pandemic-related harm that this program references, this program seeks to address a different, non-enumerated harm: increased arrest due to increased crime rates, and the resulting increase in criminal records experienced by individuals involved in the criminal justice system.

	The Rapid Rehousing ARPA Initiative expands upon the successful Expedited Housing Initiative, which was initially funded with $35 million from the CARES Act. Brief description of structure and objectives of assistance program(s), including public health or negative economic impact experienced	The Rapid Rehousing Program supports households in moving from shelter or the street into stable housing, enabling them to achieve housing with case management. This is a low-barrier, crisis intervention program, that provides autonomy to participants to be the authors of their housing stability plans. Services are short to mid-term, recipients can begin to think about longer-term goals such as healthcare needs, employment, education, and income.
Brief description of recipient's approach to ensuring that response is reasonable and proportional to a public health or negative economic impact of Covid-19	The Rapid Rehousing Program addresses increased rates of homelessness, specifically the need for rapid rehousing to non-congregate settings. Households are identified for rapid rehousing services based on prioritization criteria approved by the Chicago Continuum of Care. Under the Coordinated Entry Temporary Prioritization 2.0, households who are at risk of severe complication from COVID-19 are prioritized for housing.

Project Description	The CSCC is a multi-agency coordination center that utilizes the lessons learned from the City's coordinated response to the COVID-19 pandemic. During the pandemic, the City of Chicago saw a significant increase in crime, where longstanding structural inequities meant that low-income and working-class Chicagoans were more vulnerable both to the disease and impact of disease mitigation strategies. As a result, Chicago saw dramatic increases in homicides and after near historic lows in the years leading up to the pandemic. The CSCC's objectives are: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. To ensure violence prevention and reduction is community-led with support from City staff and resources, which are identified by the community;</li> <li>2. To create new collaboration opportunities amongst City staff, community organizations, and others with existing roles in the violence prevention and reduction space and</li> <li>3. To create the systems for data collection, analysis, and mapping needed to ensure a data-driven approach to violence prevention and reduction.</li> </ol> These efforts are designed to provide targeted support for the individuals most at risk of violence in the 15-priority communities in Chicago.

	Funding the CCSC is dedicated to operational support, marketing for violence prevention and reduction, expansion of resources for violence intervention programming, and support for community safety initiatives. CSCC's efforts will be measured in the number of coordination efforts led by CSCC and individuals in the targeted areas who engage with these programs.

Brief description of structure and objectives of assistance program(s), including public health or negative economic impact experienced	CSCC staff work to identify and implement strategies that address the root causes of violence. The program aims to provide resources for individuals (assistance with permanent housing, trauma-informed response and mental healthcare, substance use disorder treatment, food insecurity, job training and long-term employment opportunities, and youth programming) and convene nonprofits responding to violence and crime rates by hosting symposia to connect organizations and coordinate service provision.
Brief description of recipient's approach to ensuring that response is reasonable and proportional to a public health or negative economic impact of Covid-19	The gun violence epidemic was exacerbated by the COVID-19 pandemic, resulting in increases in the number of non-fatal shootings in all 77 neighborhoods. Longstanding structural inequities meant that low-income and working-class residents were more vulnerable to COVID-19 and the economic hardships due to the pandemic. Due to these conditions, Chicago experienced an increase in homicides and shooting victims. The CSCC coordinates community-led, data informed solutions to gun violence.

	As the pandemic struck in early 2020, the City of Chicago

Project Description	experienced a notable surge in shooting incidents, thefts, victimizations, and homicides. Longstanding structural inequities meant that low-income and working-class Chicagoans were more vulnerable both to the disease and to the impact of disease mitigation strategies (e.g., economic fallout of the shutdown). As a result, Chicago saw dramatic increases in incidents of violence after near-historic lows prior to the pandemic, disproportionately impacting areas historically burdened by community violence. In response, the City's Place-Based violence prevention strategy aims to coordinate community safety services and supports in the 15 priority communities most impacted by violence. This strategy involves addressing infrastructure needs, enhancing access to safe spaces, and implementing initiatives such as the Home and Business Protection Program, which equipped residents with security devices at no cost. The desired outcomes of these interventions include increased coordination of safe space activations and events held and the enhancement of public safety perception through the provision of security devices. Ultimately, these efforts seek to improve public safety perception and reduce shooting victimizations within the prioritized communities.

Project Description	The Community Violence Intervention program, known as Street Outreach, supports and engages individuals (typically older youth and adults 18 - 34 years) in the 15-priority community areas with the most persistent levels of violence, who are at the highest risk of participation in violence. Individuals may be at risk due to a number of factors, including a history of involvement in violence, incarceration, law enforcement encounters, exposure to violence and trauma, and possibly school and employment setbacks. Street Outreach teams are trained and deployed to canvas and promote prosocial activities in the target communities. The teams also offer violence interruption services and case management engagement designed to connect participants to unmet service needs including mental health, assistance with employment exploration, legal advocacy and other wraparound services that steer individuals away from violence and toward positive outcomes. The desired outcomes for the program are to interrupt violent incidents that lead to violence and homicide, promote healing, and improve the trajectory of at-risk individuals in our most-impacted communities. Progress is measured by the number of incidents responded to, number of technical support hours provided, and number of active outreach workers hired.

Description	To carry out Project 0504795 My CHI. My Future project. It is an initiative with a goal of connecting every young person in Chicago with an out-of-school time program. The community strategy of My CHI. My Future. involves selecting a lead delegate agency (anchor organization) in each of 15 community areas to convene other youth-serving organizations and those with a stake in young people across the community to discuss and implement strategies to connect young people to programming. This includes the delegate convening regular meetings with stakeholders, identifying and creating opportunities for young people to be connected to programming, managing a community seed grant program, and promoting the My CHI. My Future. website and app.
